Support

Project 9

How can I support my local community?

Let's recap...

What is support?

To give support to someone could mean assisting and helping them with something, listening to them, working in a team etc.

It is important to remember that support works both ways. Often people in supportive job roles also need help in order to support others.

Let's watch this video....

Your task:

Think about all the people in your community. Create a list of all the ‘unsung heroes’ and explain the consequences of what would happen if they didn’t do what they do for us.

For instance, if Police Officers didn’t exist, it could be really dangerous to go out alone.

Remember to list people who support others on a voluntary basis, as well as people who do it as part of their job.

Challenge:

Now think about what YOU can do support your community?

Create a plan of what you would like to do for your local community. You can present this plan in any way you like, for instance, in a poster or even creating a job description for the job you want to do!
