This week's online learning:

This week in English we will begin our new writing cycle of poetry! We will spend the week reading, exploring and performing poetry. What do you know about poetry?

As Mathematicians, we will continue to look at length, by comparing kilometres, metres and centimetres as well as how we write them.

As Geographers, we will be comparing the weather climates of Spain and the U.K.

As Scientists, we will be investigating what magnets can do and how powerful they are.

As Artists, we will create still lifes inspired by surrealism and Joan Miro.

In Computing, we will be linking our learning with English and planning poetry on Google Jamboards.

In RSHE this week we will explore barriers paralympians faced and how they overcame these. Can we apply this to challenges we face?

As Readers this week we will continue exploring Miro's magic animals. We will focus on gaining a deeper understanding of what we read through answering questions and exploring details which make characters.

In RE this week we will continue our learning our around Judaism. We will compare and contrast our weekends to those of a Jewish family celebrating Shabbat.

Our Spanish lessons will still continue this week! What things can you remember from the last few weeks that you can bring with you into the lesson?
