This weeks learning..

This half term our topic is going to be focused on Earth our home.

In English We will be publishing (which means editing and improving!) our persuasive leaflets this week - all about deforestation. We will then be planning and performing our debate. Our debate is about farming for deforestation.

In Maths we will be moving on to look at volume and capacity. In this topic, we will be learning how to compare the volume and capacity of a range of liquids and accurately convert between units of liquids.

In Science: We will be taking learning how flowers develop into fruits. We will dissect different fruits to identify the seeds before creating a sequencing thinking frame to demonstrate how flowers develop into fruits.

In Geography we will be learning about the future of food in relation to the growing population! What will the future hold for farming and the food we can grow and eat?

In Art : We will be creating our final piece! We will use a printing block we have designed to create a rainforest wallpaper. We will then collage an orangutan on top of our printed piece.

In R.E. this week we will be summarising our topic and returning to our Big Question: How are symbols and sayings important in Religion?

In Computing This week is Internet Safety week! We will be having a workshop and then we will be discussing online safety in our classes. In Year 3 we will be looking at who we can turn to when we need help.

In R.S.H.E. we will be answering our Coping Skills question: Why do we learn coping skills?
